OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST, KING OF THE UNIVERSE

NOVEMBER 26, 2023

Jesus said to his disciples, "When the Son of Man comes in his glory, and all the angels with him, he will sit upon his glorious throne, and all the nations will be assembled before him. And he will separate them one from another, as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. He will place the sheep on his right and the goats on his left. Then the king will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father. Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, a stranger and you welcomed me, naked and you clothed me, ill and you cared for me, in prison and you visited me.' Then the righteous will answer him and say, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you drink? When did we see you a stranger and welcome you, or naked and clothe you? When did we see you ill or in prison, and visit you?' And the king will say to them in reply, 'Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of these least brothers of mine, you did for me.' Then he will say to those on his left, 'Depart from me, you accursed, into the eternal fire prepared for the devil and his angels. For I was hungry and you gave me no food, I was thirsty and you gave me no drink, a stranger and you gave me no welcome, naked and you gave me no clothing, ill and in prison, and you did not care for me.' Then they will answer and say, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry or thirsty or a stranger or naked or ill or in prison, and not minister to your needs?' He will answer them, 'Amen, I say to you, what you did not do for one of these least ones, you did not do for me.' And these will go off to eternal punishment, but the righteous to eternal life."

OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST, KING OF THE UNIVERSE

A Scriptural Reflection

Reflecting on God's Word

Tom is allergic to cats, even when they're not around but once were. His eyes turn red, and he starts to wheeze so that he has to excuse himself and leave. Oddly enough, he has lately befriended a neighborhood stray at his back door. He doesn't touch it, and he won't allow it into his house, but he feeds it regularly and even misses it when it doesn't show up on his stoop. Something moves us to care for the lost among us. It is often instinctive, and at times even contrary to our own best interests, as with Tom and his allergy to cats.

Is such sympathy for the underdog written on the back of our psyches? Are lost souls really long-lost kin? Is it guilt that moves us to contribute to food pantries and bread lines or is it genuine compassion? If we are to believe in the Incarnation, that God has taken form in human flesh, then those instincts to visit shut-ins imprisoned in their own homes and to free those who still find themselves locked into poverty are Godly instincts. It is holiness bred in our bones, incapable of being held in.

Because someone is hungry, we find ourselves giving to a food pantry or volunteering at a soup kitchen. Because someone is a stranger, we welcome them into our neighborhood and seek ways to comfort the immigrant. Because someone is imprisoned by illness or old age, we visit them and check in on them. And because our own individual efforts often seem so meager in the face of so many needs, we seek ways to institutionalize our care through government policy and funding. It is all a Godly instinct.

Living God's Word

To say that Christ is King, that he reigns over our lives, is to admit to a world bigger than our own. In Christ's realm, each is cared for simply because each is a part of the Kingdom.

PASTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Parishioners,

This weekend as we bring to a close another liturgical year with the celebration of the Feast of Christ The King, I thought it might be good to share with you a brief passage from a document on the Eucharist entitled Happy Are Those Who Are Called to His Supper: On Preparing to Receive Christ Worthily in the Eucharist. This document was issued by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops back in 2006. The bishop's wrote: Holy Communion is a sharing in the Eucharist in which Christ is truly present. The priest, recalling the words and actions of Jesus at the Last Supper, consecrates the bread and wine, which are changed, by the power of the Holy Spirit, into the Body and Blood of Christ. This is why the Church has traditionally employed the word "transubstantiation" to describe the change that takes place. The substance (what something is) of bread and wine is totally changed into the substance of Christ's Body and Blood. While the appearances of bread and wine remain, the Risen Lord Jesus is actually present, and so it is he who is actually received in Holy Communion--Body and Blood, soul and divinity. We call our reception of Christ in the Eucharist "Holy Communion," for through our reception of his Body and Blood we come into communion with him who is All-Holy. The Son of God came to share in our lowly humanity that we might come to share in his holy divinity. When we receive Christ in Holy Communion, we are united to the Risen Christ and come to share in his divine life. Thus, through Christ's indwelling, we are likewise united, in the Holy Spirit, to God the Father, the source of all holiness....Through Baptism and our shared faith in the Gospel of Jesus Christ, we become members of the visible Church, under the apostolic authority of the pope and bishops. The celebration of the Eucharist expresses and enacts this communion in Christ. With few exceptions, only those who are members of the Catholic Church may receive Holy Communion at a Catholic Eucharistic liturgy. Being baptized and sharing in the Church's faith are, therefore, conditions for full participation in the Sacrament of the Eucharist, which culminates in the reception of Holy Communion.... The Acts of the Apostles tells us that the first Christians "devoted themselves to the teaching of the apostles and to the communal life, to the breaking of the bread and to the prayers" (Acts 2:42). By its very nature the Eucharist is the fulfillment to which our shared life in union with Christ tends--it fortifies our common faith, nurtures the communal bond of love, and increases our holiness within the one body of Christ. As the Catechism of the Catholic Church teaches: "The Eucharist is `the source and summit of the Christian life.'"

Once again this year we are happy to provide the "Advent Little Blue Books" as a daily prayer guide during this season. This first weekend we ask that you take one per-household until all parishioners have had a chance to receive one.

During the season of Advent, we do penance in preparation for the Christmas season. We try to better our lives so that we might be more fully prepared to celebrate the birth of Jesus. Therefore, I invite you to mark your calendars for our parish celebration of the Sacrament of Reconciliation, which will take place on Thursday, December 14th at 7:00pm. We will have a number of priests available that evening to assist with this celebration.

Pastor

STEWARDSHIP

A King Like No Other

We have not elected God as president, and God's creation is not made up of registered voters. There are no referendums on God's will, and no chance of recalling God in favor of another leader. Consequently, the idea of God as Lord and King will always seem strange to us in our democratic, individualistic society. Jesus experienced personally the oppressive nature of kings, emperors, and other rulers—think of Herod and Pontius Pilate. In contrast to them, he linked his status as king to humble service, and instructed his followers to be servants, too. When we celebrate Christ as King, we are celebrating a ruler willing to do anything for his beloved people, and whose loving-kindness endures forever. In the scriptures, Jesus' kingdom is inseparably tied to his suffering. King of all creation, he humbled himself to become human, even sharing the ultimate fate of his subjects: death. The King of the world, brutalized and crowned with thorns, hanging naked on a cross of shame, set us free from our bondage to sin and death. The Lord of glory made this ultimate self-sacrifice purely out of love for us. He is Lord, King, and Judge, but he does not judge by human standards, so his justice is not mere punishment. He looks deep into all our hearts, where nothing is hidden from him. His justice is intended to lead to our repentance and ultimate salvation. We believe that "he will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead, and his kingdom will have no end." The scriptures tell us that the Father delays the return of the Son so that all of us have the opportunity to repent. Christ our King offers us true freedom as the beloved sons and daughters of God.
