Church of St. Mary Magdalene

TWENTY-FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME SEPTEMBER 20, 2026

Jesus told the disciples this parable. "The kingdom of heaven is like a landowner who went out at dawn to hire laborers for his vineyard. After agreeing with them for the usual daily wage, he sent them into his vineyard. Going out about nine o'clock, he saw others standing idle in the marketplace, and he said to them, 'You too go into my vineyard, and I will give you what is just.' So they went off. And he went out again around noon, and around three o'clock, and did likewise. Going out about five o'clock, he found others standing around, and said to them, 'Why do you stand here idle all day?' They answered, 'Because no one has hired us.' He said to them, 'You too go into my vineyard.' When it was evening the owner of the vineyard said to his foreman, 'Summon the laborers and give them their pay, beginning with the last and ending with the first.' When those who had started about five o'clock came, each received the usual daily wage. So when the first came, they thought that they would receive more, but each of them also got the usual wage. And on receiving it they grumbled against the landowner, saying, 'These last ones worked only one hour, and you have made them equal to us, who bore the day's burden and the heat.' He said to one of them in reply, 'My friend, I am not cheating you. Did you not agree with me for the usual daily wage? Take what is yours and go. What if I wish to give this last one the same as you? [15] Or am I not free to do as I wish with my own money? Are you envious because I am generous?' Thus, the last will be first, and the first will be last."

TWENTY-FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Scriptural Reflection

What is a just wage? We might say it is pay proportionate to the amount of work performed, but in today's parable we learn that God's view of a just wage is high above our view. It is the wage a person needs to live on for one day: the "daily wage." In God's view of justice a person's worth (or pay) is not determined by industriousness, righteousness, status, wealth; not by anything a person has or does. Human worth is based only on our personhood. It is not "just" in God's eyes for anyone to receive less than the wages needed to live each day in dignity.

Is the landowner generous? Yes, certainly. In God's eyes, only such indiscriminate generosity would be truly just. God's view of justice requires God—and us—to be generous. Whether we are speaking of spiritual or material "pay," here or hereafter, God wants to pay us not according to what we deserve, but according to what we need. All are equally worthy of a just wage in the eyes of our generous God.

Living God's Word

Everyone who participates in God's reign has God's own generous justice to thank. And that humble knowledge of God's generosity to us should compel us to show the same generosity to the poor and marginalized in our Church and our society.

Pastor's Message

Dear Parishioners,

This weekend the Church celebrates Catechetical Sunday. This annual celebration is an opportunity for us to reflect on the important ministry that Catechists perform in our parish. They help us to make the connection between the faith we profess each week and the reality of that faith in our daily lives. These include: Ms. Emma Scheumerman, our Director of Religious Education and Mrs. Kia Scott, Director of Youth Ministry, as well as Craig and Jacqueline, who facilitate our OCIA program, the teachers and assistants in our religious education program, those who prepare parents and Godparents to celebrate this sacrament of baptism, and those who work in youth ministry and members of our OCIA team. We are grateful for their service to our community.

When it rains, it pours...In response to many prayers I am happy to announce that we will have two priests moving into the parish rectory. This week we welcome Father Anthony Nwudah, a priest from Nigeria who has been working in Iowa for the last several years. Father Anthony will be serving as a chaplain at Scripps Mercy Hospital. I am not yet sure if he will be able to assist here in the parish. Second, in November we will welcome Father Stephanos Pedrano O.S.B. who has accepted a position as campus minister at U.S.D. Some of you may remember that Father Stephanos resided in the parish a number of years ago. As with Father Anthony, I am not yet sure of Father Stephanos' availability for assistance in the parish.

The witness of catechists and teachers of the faith also creates and fosters a culture of witness. Catechists, together with the pastors of the Church, are entrusted with the duties of teaching the faith, overseeing sacramental preparation, supporting the formation of consciences, and developing a love of prayer in those they catechize. Catechists, who are dedicated Disciples of Christ, provide a powerful witness to the Gospel. Additionally, Catholic schools and their teachers are witnesses to the faith. For over one hundred years, the Catholic school system in America has prepared generations of disciples in this country and been a powerful evangelizing presence. A vibrant Catholic identity and active promotion of gospel values in Catholic schools help foster future generations of disciples and evangelists. Discipleship is rooted in human experience. It is through human experience that one enters into a dialogue with modern culture. The human experience provides the "sensible signs" that help us come to know ourselves, one another, and God. It is through common human experiences that the Word of God is revealed to us. These sensible signs are not abstract metaphysical signs but the concrete actions of the Holy Spirit present in the Christian's everyday life. These concrete actions of the Holy Spirit are numerous.

Some common examples are retreats, direct service opportunities, parish prayer groups, Bible study programs, and involvement in the ecclesial movements. It is through the prompting of the Holy Spirit that one comes to understand the Good News of the Gospel. One's interaction with a Christian who lives an authentic gospel life leads to questioning about how to better appropriate the faith into one's own life. "Catechesis links human experience to the revealed word of God. Catechesis helps them relate the Christian message to the most profound questions in life: the existence of God, the destiny of the human person, the origin and end of history, the truth about good and evil, the meaning of suffering and death, and so forth." These catechetical foundations are necessary for creating a culture of witness that testifies to the transformative power of the Gospel.

This week (September 21-25) I will be participating in the Annual Convocation for priests in the Diocese of San Diego. This year nearly 180 priests, active and retired, diocesan and religious, who are currently ministering in the Diocese of San Diego will be gathering for this event. The convocation is a combination of prayer, spiritual reflection and some business. One of the things I enjoy most about the Convocation is the opportunity to gather with my brother priests and hear about the good things that are happening throughout our diocese in the many parishes and other faith communities. I am grateful to Mr. Jeremy Freeman for leading communion services on the mornings that I am away.

Fr. Ed McNulty,
Pastor

Stewardship

God's Economy

Today we hear about a landowner who hired laborers to work in his vineyard. The first hires agreed on a day's pay. When work ended the men were paid, the first hires receiving the same as the late hires. Imagine the grumbling! Fairness and justice in the marketplace are essential. In 1891, Pope Leo XIII issued Rerum Novarum ("Of New Things"). This ground-breaking document discussed the relationships and duties of labor and capital, governments and citizens. It called for just wages for people to support families, and the right of labor to unionize. The pope rejected both communism and unrestricted capitalism, and affirmed the right to private property. In the Gospel, Jesus is not addressing these issues, but God's relationship with people. God acts with justice: like the laborers who worked all day, we receive what God promised. God also gives beyond simple justice, giving unexpectedly and lavishly. In God's economy we all get what we deserve and more than we ever bargained for.
