Jesus Is Here - Come As You Are

- Jesus is always available.
- Pray or sit and rest or have a little chat.
- He wants to be with you.
- He IS with you.
- Whatever your heart is feeling,
- He wants to meet you there.
- Come and see.
- The church is open until 4:00pm weekdays and later on weekends. Spend some time with Him.

Welcome!

No matter what your present status in the Catholic Church,
No matter what your current family or marital situation,
No matter what your past or present situation,
No matter what your personal history,
age, background or race,

No matter what your own self image or self-esteem.
You are invited, welcomed, accepted, loved,
and respected at St. Mary Magdalene Church!

We are so happy to have you here!

Living God's Word

Other than Jesus, I've never known of anyone who harvested all eight of the Beatitudes with abundance. Most of us find hints of one or two at best. It does seem enough, however, to start transforming us into All Saints.

Scriptural Reflection

Some people want the Beatitudes to be Jesus' new commandments; others, an eight-step program for dealing with our addiction to this world; and still others, just one more grocery list of what we should be stocking up on for a long winter's journey to the Kingdom. The Beatitudes are also, however, the face of Jesus in its boldest and most daring profile. Every time we catch a glimpse of them in ourselves, it's like looking in the mirror and seeing what we someday will be. The fact is, as St. John attests, it's already begun. I keep bumping into them, and so do you.

I think of someone I know who can't stand division in his home. He is absolutely driven to find healing solutions. He's a peacemaker from the word go. We all know those who are passionate about the weakest among us. They refuse to keep their mouths shut, even at the cost of losing other folks' acceptance. They can't seem to help it. Some seem able to forgive without a second thought. Others honestly and deeply hunger to be holy, not pious or religious but just good. And others seem to enter into people's pain with great compassion and sensitivity in ways that I don't. They actually mourn for the world.

And then there are those of us who don't feel we live many of those Beatitudes very well. Yet every once in a while something pops up from God knows where, and it's a bit of divinity in us that we'd never believed could be there. Then we realize that it must be God's doing because it could never be our own. And if it is God's doing, then we must be God's daughters and sons. What else could it mean? It's like looking in a mirror, and we didn't even know what we were.

Pastor's Message

Dear Parishioners,

This week is, of course, our national election and so as the election draws near the Bishops of the United States remind us: "The Catholic community is large and diverse. We are Republicans, Democrats, and Independents. We are members of every race, come from every ethnic background, and live in urban, rural, and suburban communities. We are CEO's and migrant farm workers, senators and person on public assistance, business owners and union members. But we are all called to a common commitment to protect human life and stand with those who are poor and vulnerable. We cannot be indifferent to or cynical about the obligations of citizenship. As voters and advocates, candidates and contributors, we are called to provide a moral leaven for our democracy."

This week we also celebrate our patronal feast. Saturday, November 7th, is the Feast of San Diego de Alcalá de Henares. San Diego (St. Didacus) was born about 1400 at San Nicholas in Andalusia, of poor and God-Fearing parents. He entered the Third Order of St. Francis as a young man and spent several years as a hermit. Later he entered the Franciscan convent in Castile and was admitted to solemn vows as a lay brother. After a few years he was sent as a missionary to the Canary Islands and went on to become the guardian of the chief friary on the islands at Fortaventura. He returned to Spain and was sent to Rome in 1450 to attend the great jubilee and the canonization ceremonies of St. Bernardine of Siena. While he was in Rome an epidemic broke out. Diego attended the sick with great charity and trust in God. Despite the lack of supplies in the city at the time, Diego always had ample provision for his patients. He miraculously restored many of them to health by making the Sign of the Cross over them. He would eventually return to Spain and when he felt that the end of his life was drawing near, he asked for an old and worn-out habit, so that he might die in it as a true son of St. Francis. He died on November 12, 1463, at the Franciscan monastery Alcalá, pressing a crucifix to his heart and repeating the words of the Good Friday chant: "Precious the wood, precious the nails, precious the weight they bear." He was canonized by Pope Sixtus V, in 1588. The Catholic Church in the United States will celebrate National Vocation Awareness Week, November 1-7, 2026. This observance, sponsored by the U.S. bishops' Committee on Clergy, Consecrated Life and Vocations, is a special time for parishes in the U.S. to foster a culture of vocations for the priesthood, diaconate and consecrated life.

Pope Francis, in his message of April 26, 2015 on the 52nd Day of World Prayer for Vocations states; "Responding to God's call means allowing Him to help us leave ourselves and our false security behind, and to strike out on the path which leads to Jesus Christ, the origin and destiny of our life and our happiness." The Holy Father stresses, "The Christian vocation, rooted in the contemplation of the Father's heart, thus inspires us to solidarity in bringing liberation to our brothers and sisters, especially the poorest." National Vocations Awareness Week is designed to help promote vocation awareness and to encourage young people to ask the question: "To what vocation in life is God calling me?" "Encouraging others to recognize the promptings of the Holy Spirit and to follow Christ without reservations are key elements in supporting a culture of vocations," said Bishop Michael F. Burbidge of Raleigh, North Carolina, chairman of the U.S. bishops' Committee on Clergy, Consecrated Life and Vocations.

Prayer for the Deployed Military

As a faith community let's pray for all those who serve our country during these troubled times.

We pray especially for those of our parish who are deployed or will soon be deployed. We also thank God for those who have returned safely.

Let us pray:
Almighty God, be their constant companion and strength in every adversity. May they always experience your presence, love and comfort.

Reporting Allegations of Sexual Misconduct
